Doctor Snook Bares Details Of Murder

Doctor Visibly Shaken At Telling of Death of Miss Hix

Courtroom, Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—"The night of the crime," when Thelma Thora Hix, co-ed beauty, was killed, graphically described from the witness stand today by Dr. James H. Snook, former college professor, on trial for her murder.

The jurors leaned forward in their chairs and the huge throng of spectators held their breath as the defendant, cool as ice, told his story.

Step by step Snook led up to the description of the crime. On the fatal night of June 13 he met Miss Hix at 12th Avenue and High Street at about 8 p. m. She had telephoned him about 4:30 p. m., making the appointment.

Enroute she handed him a sandwich, saying she thought he would enjoy it as he must be hungry. She told him she had eaten.

Snook Eats Sandwich

"I ate the sandwich," Snook testified, "but I didn't like the crust and told her so."

Miss Hix had taken her purse along, Snook said in answer to a question. They drove over various roads.

"I told her I was planning to go to Lebanon, O., on Saturday to attend a family re-union," he testified. "I told her it was all arranged. I explained that Mrs. Snook was going with me.

"Miss Hix urged me to get back to Lebanon as soon as I could."

As they drove past the Scioto Country club, about 9 p. m., he noticed that the locker room was lit so he went in and got his shooting glasses.

She remained sitting in the car, when he came out she said:

"Take me some place where I can scream."

Stop On Road

They stopped at one place on the road. She seemed different. She put her arms around him and said, "Are you feeling better?"

He drove her to the lonely rifle range outside the city, arriving there "about ten minutes after nine." He parked the car about thirty yards from the road when he drove in.

He turned off the lights of the machine. They sat there for a while, and then they quarreled.

"I hit her with the hammer as we quarreled in the car parked on the rifle range," he testified amid deadly silence in the crowded courtroom.

"I hit her again, and again.

"As she slid out of the car, I struck her one more blow with the hammer and she staggered and fell.

"The next thing I remember I was sitting on the running board, my head in my hands."

Snook, hitherto cold as ice on the stand, shivered. He seemed on the verge of a collapse.

For a full minute he paused, not uttering a word. The courtroom clock could be heard ticking. Then, removing his nose glasses and wiping his eyes, he moaned:

"Heaven knows, she was a good friend of mine. I never thought that I would do it."

Snook said the idea in the back of his head while all this was going on was that she "was going to shoot me; she was reaching for the purse which I thought held her pistol."

"She had threatened me before but I was never afraid when I could see the purse," he declared. "I had talked her out of it before.

"I certainly believed my life was in danger."

Spectators, most of them women and girls, shuddered as Snook said he spoke to the girl and got no reply.

Snook then related how he left the body of the co-ed lying in the blood-stained grass, got in his machine and drove away.

Once in his blue coupe, the so-called "murder car", he drove toward home. As he crossed a bridge he noticed Theora's purse on the seat and threw it into the Scioto

Arrested In Lisbon

Lisbon, Aug. 8.—C. K. Ink, a traveling salesman charged in a court at Ashland, O., with failure to support his three minor children was arrested at the Lisbon hotel, Lisbon, by Patrolman B. F. Rollins, and turned over to Ashland authorities. Ink had been traced throughout the state when the Ashland police department heard he was in Lisbon. His arrest followed a few hours after a copy of the warrant had been received at Lisbon.

PROHIBITION TO FORM TOPIC IN CRIME SURVEY

Wickersham Is Criticized For Appointments On Board

Washington, Aug. 8.—Prohibition may be "only one phase" of the national crime situation, as recently stated by President Hoover, but George W. Wickersham, director of the presidential commission on law enforcement, furnished unmistakable evidence today that he considers it a most important phase.

Formation of a special committee within the commission was announced to study prohibition, with Wickersham himself as its head, and including Newton D. Baker, Ada L. Comstock, and Judge Wm. S. Kenyon. Other committees will study subjects closely allied with the prohibition problem such as "the causes of crime," "lawlessness by governmental law enforcing officers," "juvenile delinquency," etc.

The professional prohibitionists and reformers are not expected to take kindly to this development of the law enforcement investigation. They have not yet ceased criticising Chairman Wickersham for his famous letter to the conference of state governors, in which he spoke of modification of the existing dry laws as a step toward better law observance.

Many of the drys, a few openly but more privately, bitterly assailed Wickersham as "a wet" after that letter.

Today they were further disturbed by Wickersham's placing himself at the head of the special committee on prohibition, and including in its membership Newton D. Baker.

Stowaway Receives Cheery Letters; On Way Back Home

Philadelphia, Aug. 8—Cheered by letters and $8 received from sympathizers, Albert Buschko, the young German stowaway who arrived aboard the Graf Zeppelin, left here on a train for New York today where he will board the Hamburg-American Liner Thuringia for Germany this afternoon.

Flashing a smile and exhibiting an American hair cut he received last night, the young stowaway seemed very cheerful this morning upon his arrival here by motor.

"It is worth going to jail just to have made the trip here," he said when he asked if he feared again being placed in a cell when he got back to Germany.

He was dressed in a new suit given him with a $5 bill by the wife of one of the immigration officials at Gloucester, N. J., where he had been since his arrival. He also had two letters, one from Mrs. Mary MacEachern, Lenopa, N. J., expressing her sympathy and enclosing a $1 bill and another from Adolph Blessner and Carl Danner, Jersey City, which contained a $2 money order.

Quaker City Band To Give Concert

Quaker City band will give an open air concert at 8 p. m. Monday at Centennial park.

John W. Hundertmarck, director of the band, announces that he has arranged a program including request numbers.

"It is very gratifying to notice that the majority requests are for standard and classic numbers," Mr. Hundertmarck said. He is of the opinion that the reason for this is that people get enough jazz over the radio. The director will give some popular numbers on the program.

The program from Monday night's concert will be published Saturday.

District Lodges At Committee Meeting

Mrs. George Mounts, who is president of District 28, Daughters of Rebekah, entertained the other officers and members of the executive committee Wednesday afternoon at her home, East Fourth st. A representative was present from each of the seven lodges in the district.

Plans were made at this session for the district meeting which will be held Sept. 25 in Salem.

BIBLE BASIS FOR ALLEN PLATFORM

Candidate for Mayor Tells Views In City Government

George W. Allen, Salem justice of peace, today issued the platform upon which he is basing his candidacy for the mayoralty nomination on the Republican ticket.

Allen briefly discussed various municipal issues, making public his stand on the Butler water project, prohibition, and adequate police protection. He also announced that upon election to the office, he will deed to the city, a house to be known as a house of refuge for girls.

"My platform," he announced, "is embodied in the teachings of the church and the Holy Scriptures without which no political platform is adequate."

On the Butler project he stated that the present supply of water was satisfactory, and stated that "we have rock filtered water gushing all around us" and that "better cannot be obtained from the surface."

"There is no good argument for the liquor question," he added. "It is out of date and should be forgotten. Drunkards and other violators of dry laws should be treated like invalids. To say that the city needs more police is an insult to our present force and other peace-teaching institutions. Less patrolmen on the force is my policy."

He hinted at a change to be effected in the personnel in the city hall were he to be elected, and issued a stand in favor of revealing to the public, all activities in the police court.

A stand in favor of fewer fines to be inflicted on violators of traffic ordinances was also taken by the justice, on the basis that "motorists are already taxed to the limit." All contracts for work in the city, he continued, should be let to home contractors.

ROW LOOMS AS WILLEBRANDT'S ARTICLE DENIED

Francis Burke's statement Objects to Word Of Former Official

Washington, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's endeavor to put upon the Republican national committee the responsibility for her famous Ohio campaign speech, in which she urged Methodist ministers to rouse their congregations to "the menace" of Gov. Al Smith's White House aspirations, threatened to provoke a considerable row today.

In one of her published articles since her retirement as assistant attorney general, Mrs. Willebrandt declared she was urged to make the speech and that it had been read and edited by Francis Burke.

After maintaining silence for several days, Burke put forth a carefully-worded statement today in which he denied that he had ever urged Mrs. Willebrandt "to attack any man's religion." Furthermore, he said, the copy of the Springfield speech which came to Republican national headquarters did not contain any phrase appealing to the sectarian prejudices of Mrs. Willebrandt's ministerial audience.

"Ordinarily," the statement said, "I pay no attention to campaign canards, but in the interest of truth and all concerned I am compelled to deny that during the last presidential campaign I ever urged or suggested that Mrs. Willebrandt discuss any man's religion or religious suoject, nor did I insert or attempt to insert any religous comment in any speech she made or intended to make, nor was any manuscript of her's containing any attack on any man's religion of personal character, or raising the religious issue ever submitted to or scrutinized by me, nor did any manuscript of her Springfield (O.) speech which came to headquarters contain any such expression as 'go back to your pulpits and preach this doctrine' or anything akin to it."

Mrs. Willebrandt stated that she "has in her files" telegrams urging her to make the speech.

POSSE SEARCHES FOR ARMED MAN

Farmer Runs Amuck In Illinois; Hides In Forest Preserve

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Police today were surrounding a portion of the forest preserve near Wheeling with expectations of a battle with an armed man, believed insane.

The man was known to be armed with an automatic rifle and several .45 automatic pistols. He is Harry Weider, 50, a farmer.

Last night he shot it out with the police, barricaded in his home. Unable to withstand the effects of tear and stench bombs tossed inside. He finally fled to the forest preserve.

Weider ran amuck yesterday when John Wilinski, state thistle commissioner, ordered him to cut his weeds. He knocked Wilinski down and pummeled him.

Weider met police, who went to arrest him with a volley of automatic rifle bullets that forced them to take shelter behind their car, as the farmer's wife, daughter and two sons fled from the house.

Mother Shoots Daughter As She Sleeps; Ends Own Life

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 8.—With a book and a hand mirror lying at her side, Miss Madeline Wilson, 18-year-old high school graduate, was shot and killed by her young mother as she lay asleep in her bedroom this morning. The mother, only 36 years of age, and a former Akron, O., resident, then committed suicide.

The woman was the wife of Burt L. Wilson, wealthy Huntington business man. She was believed to have suffered a nervous breakdown. The family moved here ten years ago from Akron.

When police arrived at the home, a "show-place," here, they found the daughter lying in her bed with the ghost of a smile still hovering about her lips as if the fatal bullet in her temple had ended a pleasant dream.

A summer breeze wafted the curtains lazily from the windows, but the sharp tang of gunpowder was still heavy on the air.

The mother, a thin little woman, lay crumpled on the floor beside the bed, with both hands clasping the .32 caliber revolver.

Her face was drawn with an expression of pain. It was apparent from the powder burns on both of her hands that she had been forced to use all her strength to pull the trigger, at least on the second cartridge.

The marriage of the Wilsons resulted from a childhood romance. Mrs. Wilson was formerly Miss Elizabeth Wolfe, daughter of Dennis Wolfe, of Spencer, W. Va. She married Burt Wilson at the age of 17.

Mrs. Wilson had been suffering from extreme nervousness recently.

A suicide note was left by the woman, but authorities, at the request of the family, did not disclose the contents.

Notables To Make Zeppelin Tour

THE passenger list of the Graf Zeppelin, on her world tour, will include a distinguished assortment of travelers. Among the eighteen will be Lieut. Commander Charles E. Telephone Equipment In City To Rank With Best When New Construction Work Is Ended

Ohio Bell Telephone Company Contemplates Erecting Building Here; Site Has Already Been Purchased by Concern

The Ohio Bell Telephone company is carrying on an expansion and improvement program which, completed, will give Salem one of the finest outside telephone plants in the country.

Nearly $85,000 is being used for the project, according to H. M. Huffman, Ohio Bell commercial manager.

He also stated that within a few years the company will put up a new building here to house its local offices and central office equipment. Property for this purpose has been purchased by the company at the south west corner of Lundy and Green.

Plans for the structure are now being prepared by the telephone engineers, but size and cost have not been determined.

The present program is covered by two estimates. One, covering the north side of the city, has been completed. The other, covering the south side, is progressing rapidly. It is expected that the entire outside plant program will be completed by fall.

In the north side job the company placed 532 poles, nearly 10 miles of cable, and 300 terminals. Workmen removed 466 poles, more than six miles of cable, more than 70 miles of overhead wire, and 114 terminals.

The north side activities included the construction of conduit in Garfield avenue for 1,600 feet of underground cable and the placing of block cable along both sides of Main st. from Ellsworth to Garfield. Block cable is that which extends along the sides of buildings instead of on poles.

In the south side project the company is placing 140 poles, more than six miles of aerial cable, and 165 terminals. One hundred poles nearly six miles of cable, 78 terminals, and about 15 miles of overhead wire are being removed.

"Combining the figures of the two estimates, we are placing 672 poles, 16 miles of cable, and 465 terminals, and removing 566 poles, 12 miles of cable, 192 terminals, and 85 miles of overhead wire," said Huffman.

"The increase in cable facilities is even more than the figures indicate. Cable placed was for the most part of the larger type, while that removed was of the smaller sizes.

"Another important feature is the removal of approximately 85 miles of overhead wire. This is in line with the company's policy to eliminate overhead wire and place it in cable in every instance possible, thus increasing efficiency and reducing the possibility of service interruptions due to storms.

"Before the end of this year all of Salem's outside telephone plant will be new. And when we have the new building, with the new equipment which it will house, the local telephone plant will compare favorably with the finest in the United States," he stated.

DRY CHIEFTAIN LAUDS FORCES

Corruption In Prohibition Service Falls Off Rapidly, Is Claim

Washington, Aug. 8.—Corruption in the prohibition service has been reduced by at least 90 percent in the last two years, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman declared today.

This improvement in conditions he attributed to the placing of dry officials and agents under civil service and the increase in minimum salaries from $1860 to $2300 annually, thus making possible a higher paid personnel.

Soon after taking charge of the prohibition machine August 1, 1927, Lowman issued a sensational statement asserting that the dry forces were honeycombed with corruption and crooks, and that he had launched a drive to weed out the crooked and inefficient agents.

There was a tremendous turnover in personnel. Many agents were discharged and some of them prosecuted in the federal courts for connivance with bootleggers or other corruption. Most of the dismissals from the service today are for disobedience of orders, inefficiency, failure to produce results and for other minor causes, according to Lowman.

"There are not one-tenth as many dismissals for actual corruption as two years ago," Lowman said.

Youths Fined For Fighting Near Salem

Two Canfield youths were fined $10 and costs by Mayor Phil G. Hiddleson following their pleas of guilty to charges of disorderly conduct, resulting from an alleged fight near Damascus, reported by police to have been precipitated from an argument in a grange hall, near here.

The pair, Floyd and Paul Hendricks, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff C. E. Donahay, of near Damascus. They were involved in an alleged fist-fight with Homer and Kenwood Gray, of this city, in front of Donahay's home.

The Hendricks brothers admitted following the Gray brothers, who were accompanied by two girl friends, from a grange hall, to Donahay's home, where the fistic battle occurred when the Gray brothers resisted their attempts to take the girls.

NEW YORK AGAIN GETS NIGHT VIEW

Twenty - Two Passengers Aboard Graf; Band Speeds On Way

BULLETIN

New York, Aug. 8.—At noon today the Graf Zeppelin reported herself 610 miles east of New York, in 40.12 north latitude and 60.35 west longitude. Since 8 a. m. her motors had clipped off an average speed of 56 miles an hour.

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 8. — The Graf Zeppelin was speeding toward its place in the sun.

Magnifying the dream of Jules Verne, the man-made piece of silver cloth and duralumin they call a dirigible was well away on its flight around the world.

Its motors sang Auf Wiedersehn at 11:40 p. m. (Eastern Daylight Time) today.

A shadowy silver bar gemmed with cabin lights, its take-off was a thing of beauty. The historic episode was also studded with a flavor of international comeraderie. A smooth-clicking team of American gobs and marines sent the German dirigible on its way while a military band played the 22 passengers aboard into the horizon with "It's A Long, Long Trail Awinding."

Before heading toward Friedrichshafen, its first stop, the Graf Zeppelin arched proudly over the city of skyscrapers, out-electrifying Times Square, flirting with the Woolworth tower and setting the official time of the world circuit at fifteen minutes before one o'clock, as it passed over the Statue of Liberty.

And in a graceful gesture, as it struck out for the grandest adventure since man learned to use his wings, the zep sent a radio message of appreciation to the American people and the American navy for their hospitality and aid.

The first radio message to be sent by the round-the-world dirigible was addressed to Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and read:-

"Leaving the shores of your wonderful country desire most urgently to express to you our admiration and sincere thanks for splendid hospitality which we have been privileged to enjoy at your naval air station at Lakehurst and for all your goodly support which made possible our pleasantly started flight around the world."

The second message from Dr. Hugo Eckener, the bearded skipper of the airship, was addressed to Lieut. Commander M. R. Pierce, in charge of the airport here:

"On leaving your hospitable grounds, I wish to thank again yourself, officers and men of your station for the most excellent assistance and co-operation which we have had the pleasure to enjoy. Auf Wiedersehn."

PRACTICAL JOKERS

Spokesman for American tourists from the steamship, Quaker City, reading an address to Alexander II, emperor of Russia—"We are a handful of private citizens of America, traveling simply for recreation, as behooves our unofficial state—and therefore we have no excuse to tender for presenting ourselves before your majesty—"

The Emperor—"Then what the devil did you come for?"

"Save the desire of offering our grateful asknowledgement to the lord of a realm which—"

The Emperor—"Oh, d—— the address! Read it to the police. Chamberlain, take these people over to my brother, the grand duke, and give them a square meal. Adieu! I am happy—I am grateful—I am delighted—I am bored. Adieu, adieu—vamos the ranch! The first groom of the palace will proceed to count the portable articles of value belonging to the premises."

The foregoing is not a story of the present, nor is it to be taken seriously. It is taken from Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," being the author's description of a burlesque put on by the crew of the Quaker City, on a visit paid the then emperor of Russia by the passengers of that vessel on a personally conducted pleasure excursion to Europe and the Holy Land back in 1867.

The story is decidedly appropos at this time, especially the reference to the counting of the portable articles of value, in the light of the arrest and imprisonment of the vice president of a Chicago brokerage house for what he holds was a mere practical joke he attempted to play on the guards of the Escorial palace near the Spanish capital.

When a palace guard saw the Chicagoan pick up one of the priceless miniatures in the collection maintained in the palace, wrap it up in a piece of paper and hide it away in a dark corner, he called a couple of policemen and the arrest and jailing followed.

The Madrid incident has recalled one in France, some years ago, when a great number of spoons of decided intrinsic value, and priceless because of their historical associations, were found missing immediately following a dinner given a large party of Americans, among them being many notables.

The combination of the two incidents will not tend to ease the ways of Americans traveling in Europe. They can not possibly add to the pleasure of Americans traveling over there. Although such cases are exceptional, and very probably so recognized by the better class of Europeans, the average American traveler can not help but be humiliated by such acts by his fellow-countrymen and seriously regret that those of them with a penchant for collecting souvenirs and the would-be practical jokers do not confine their energies to their home land.

A NEW ERA

Concentration and specialized instruction in fewer institutions offering four-year courses and the conversion of the remainder into junior colleges with better organized two-year courses is foreseen as the logical development of higher education by Ernest Hatch Wilkins, president of Oberlin college.

President Wilkins, himself a leader of one of the chief liberal colleges in America, expressed the thought just mentioned in an interview at Kansas City the other day. He formerly was dean of the College of Art, Literature and Science at the University of Chicago.

Improvements effected in the elementary and secondary schools within the last twenty-five years or so, are having a profound influence upon the function and organization of the American college, in President Wilkins' opinion.

It is noteworthy in this connection that the student today who has completed a two-year college course has on the whole attained the same educational level as the student obtained twenty-five years ago after spending four years in college. This result, no doubt, has been accomplished by improving the quality of secondary and primary education.

There has come to be, therefore, a natural break in the college course at the end of the second year. Up until that time the work is in the nature of a general liberal education, continuing similar instruction in the secondary schools. Afterwards the work grows more highly specialized, more like that offered in post-graduate and technical school courses.

Moreover, there exists a similar division in the matter of costs, President Wilkins points out. The general instruction of the first two years does not require particularly expensive laboratory and library equipment and can be supported by tuition fees. The later and more highly specialized work, of course, involves much greater expenditures on the part of the college.

Many students, statistics show, already are attending junior colleges or dropping out half way through their four-year courses elsewhere. It is in the light of observations such as President Wilkins makes that the prediction is made if a continuance of the change which has already begun in the organization of the American college is noted, concentration of specialties in few institutions will be brought about.

What Others Say

TIRED OF PROSPERITY?

Recent discussions of the possibility of tax reduction have served incidentally to emphasize the fact that the incomes of both state and federal governments have been swollen by heavy tax collections on stock market profits. The much-abused stock market has been helping to reduce the national debt, to lighten the burden of taxation and to provide extensive public improvements. Critics of the market must recognize this clear cut service.

Another benefit provided by the bull market is that conferred upon our corporations. They have been able to raise new capital by stock issues at very low rates. They have been able to substitute stock for bonds and so to strengthen their capital structures and diminish the danger of receiverships in bad times. They also have been able to secure additional capital cheaply and safely and so to expand and cheapen their production and thus to benefit the consumer.

Clearly these are substantial benefits conferred by the bull markets. When we consider them in relation to the critics who declared that the stock market had to be broken at any cost and the congressmen who would tax speculation out of existence, it is hard not to wonder whether the country is getting tired of prosperity. Has it become so used to the benefits of the extraordinary "prosperity without inflation" which it has enjoyed since the deflation of 1920-21 that it wishes to pick that prosperity apart?

If so, we will do well to remember that prosperity is a marginal affair and that meddling with the natural flow of economic events brins heavy penalties.—New York Sun.

CRITICIZES LETTER

Editor of Salem News and Citizens of Salem:

It is indeed an ironical fact that those who are the least informed and certainly the least qualified to discriminate, rush to the front, mildly declaim their so-called opinions, and attempt to thrust them down the throats of others.

And yet it is invariably the rule.

One individual attempted to do just that sort of thing in this column Tuesday. There was a follow-up to that letter in Wednesday's column, that without a doubt was framed by the writer (or writers) of the first one.

The undersigned was of course unable to learn the name of this person (or persons) who lacked the moral courage to sign his name to his own letter, but very soon did he learn it through other channels. And upon learning it? This writer could at once understand just what it was all about.

It seems that this "A Citizen" is one of many who are representative of and responsible for the age old maxim "People attribute to others the faults they see in themselves."

It is amusing to contemplate that one, who has so outraged the laws of common decency, would have the impudence to publicly disparage another.

The incident to which we refer is on record in the criminal docket No. 30, Page 465 under date of May 3, 1923. One of the present candidates for mayor was serving his term in that capacity when this prosecution was filed.

Judging from the facts given on the Criminal Docket and the reports obtainable at close hand, we may only attribute his entire record, including his (?) salacious letter (I still contend it to be a potpourri by several others) to a morally irresponsible 'Citizen."

The remarks and insinuations in this letter and the one that followed it, were very unpolitic, crudely inhumane and capable of casting reflection upon the candidate whom they chose to omit from their criticism. In other words, a too obvious denunciation of any majority leaves only a silent commendation for the one remaining. And just what, we ask "the voters" of Salem does that spell?

It is deplorable that this "good city" as "Another Citizen" puts it, has, to its discredit such contemptible, destructive minded and wholly irresponsible citizens, as the writers of these two letters, although every community has them. They are to be found hurling destructive criticism at every new thought or endeavor of which they are not a part. Incapable of seeing the good they can only stress evil.

Lacking the ability to progress themselves they attack, like these two "Citizens," writing virtual poison pen letters to the open forum of their daily paper imposing on the good graces of its editor in his loyalty to the codes of free press.

DEFENDS BOARD

Editor:

As residents of Salem township and in fairness to all school boards we would like to state through your paper that the meeting held at Franklin Square on July 30 did not speak the minds of all residents of Salem township.

We regret the unfair and unjust criticism spoken at this meeting and wish to thank the American Legion for actions it took in halting at least a portion of it.

What the average parents wants is adequate school facilities for children. Personnel of the schools must be high, buildings well equipped and located within a reasonable distance of the home.

The state plan of consolidation offers a solution to this.

It would be a blow to many of us, after we have located our homes, to find that the school we have depended upon has been taken away from us and our children are forced to go what might be, an unreasonable distance in order to get an education. Furthermore, the school should be located where business interests lie.

Salem is a logical place for these schools.

It is rather a disappointment to be barred out of your city—the place where you attend church and do business.

We do not ask charity, but do request cooperation from our city.

We wish to make it a greater city.

We feel that it is an issue with all grangers to cooperate with our county school board and place our schools for the betterment and comfort of future generations.

Nothing will be accomplished as long as arguments and haggling run rife.

The basis of success in this project lies only in cooperation.

Truly yours,
Ed Weingart,
Mrs. Ed Weingart,
Rolland Weingart,
Mrs. Rolland Weingart

GET OUT TO VOTE

Editor of The News, friends and neighbors, what is wrong with the law abiding citizens of Salem, that we hear on every hand: "I'm not going to vote at the primaries?"

Then complain because we have had five just such carnivals as the last one in the last five weeks.

I hear little children on the street talking about the men going down to see the nude women there.

We have two of the very best men of Salem running; one on the Republican, the other on the Democrat ticket. So let us get together at the poles and elect these men next Tuesday.

Remember if the good people of Salem stay away from the polls, those who are not for law enforcement will be there.

Let us work together for the good of Salem; we've heard too much about putting her on the map.

AN INTERESTED CITIZEN

RHEUMATISM DUE TO INFECTION, NOT COLD

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Habit, custom and tradition have fixed in our minds all sorts of convictions about things. A notable example is the popular idea that rheumatism is the result of exposure to weather. Cold and moisture are supposed to produce the symptoms usually called "rheumatic."

DR. COPELAND

Of course scientific physicians no longer hold to this belief. They recognized rheumatism as merely the evidence of some sort of an infection. They do not dispute that cold and damp weather may increase the pain, but the disease itself they regard as being due to an infection.

It isn't easy to get away from ideas we have held all our lives. We hate to be convinced that scarlet fever and smallpox are not transmitted through the air, but are contracted only by direct physical contact with the afflicted one.

Where is there a man or woman past 50 who cannot recall running past a neighbor's house and on the other side of the street at that, a house where there was a sign, "measles" or "diphtheria"? You even held your breath and perhaps pinched your nose tightly so not to breathe in the "miasm."

But we are forced to accept these new fangled ideas about the "contagious" diseases. So we must revise our thought about rheumatism. We must seek some local disease, in tonsils, teeth, or elsewhere, to find the real cause of this ailment.

There are arious types of rheumatism. It may be active or chronic; it may be muscular or in the joints. It may be called "lumbago" or "stiff neck". It has various names, but no matter where it is or what form it takes the causes are the same.

Many young children have adenoids and diseased tonsils. They may be harboring dangerous germs. Not only rheumatism, but also heart disease may be traced to adenoids and tonsils.

You should talk with your doctor if you suspect trouble of this sort. Early attention may spare your child all sort of pain and inconvenience. Rheumatism may be headed off and a lifetime of comfort provided by your foresight.

A mouthful of bad teeth, with pussy gums and abscesses will lay the foundation for much distress. If the joints or muscles are sore to the touch, or painful, take pains to find out what is wrong. Some remote disturbance, easily corrected by proper treatment, may be responsible for unnecessary diseases.

Answers to Health Queries

M. O. Q—Can constipation be corrected?

A—You should correct your diet by eating simple, well cooked food. Avoid foods unduly rich in fats and starches. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

W. B. Q—What should a woman weigh who is 58 years old and 5 feet 3 inches tall?

A—She should weight about 140 pounds.

C. B. Q—I am very subject to colds. What tonic should I take to build up my system and prevent them?

2—Is there any danger of getting germs from a person who has cancer?

A—Take cod liver oil as a general tonic. This will build up the general health and make you less susceptible to colds.

2—No.

M. E. Q—What causes my hair to come out in spots?

A—Baldness in spots is usually due to alopecia areata. For further particulars send self addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

X. M. Q—Is it harmful to eat raw corn meal?

A—This is merely a habit and should be overcome.

Relief from Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, J. H. Lease Drug Co., Fiding Drug Store and Bolger & French. adv

STOLEN JEWELS OF EX-EMPEROR ARE RECOVERED

Viennese Friends of Noted Exile Reveal History Of Crown Trinkets

Vienna, Aug. 8.—Viennese friends of the unfortunate ex-Emperor Charles reveal now the history of "Austrian crown jewels," which he took with him into exile. This history, as published in Vienna papers, is full of romance and criminal adventure and treachery.

The disclosures were occasioned by recent newspaper reports that a portion of the missing crown-jewels, said to be worth $15,000,000, have been seized by the police in Saffi, a town in Southern Morocco, at the moment when a mysterious couple called Mr. and Mrs. Maida were offering them for sale to a local jeweller.

The royal gems, which however, are not the Austrian crown-jewels in the strict sense of the word, because these, including the imperial insignia are guarded in the Vienna "Schatzkammer," were placed in trust with a London lawyer in 1921.

After a dinner party at his house, this lawyer discovered that the valuable jewels were stolen. One of the guests, who left the next day for Paris was suspected, and Scotland Yard men followed him to the French capital where he was arrested and the jewels were recovered.

After this incident the property of the ex-Emperor was returned to him, and he handed the jewels over to one of his courtiers with the order to sell them. The courtier, however, cheated his royal master out of the gems and gave a considerable part of it to his lady friend to hide them from the police.

The beautiful young woman, however, robbed the robber, escaped to Monte Carlo and there squandered her booty.

This story and the names involved were kept secret for a long time in accordance with the wishes of the ex-Emperor.

FARM NOTES

Items of Interest Taken from Ohio Rural Districts

Wool Comes In

With wool still coming in from many sections of eastern Ohio, the total consigned to warehouses on July 22 represents an increase of more than one-half million pounds over the total amount received during the 1928 season, according to a report received by the Mahoning County Farm Bureau office.

More than 600,000 pounds of the 1929 clip have already been shipped from the warehouse to the mills and some of the medium wools have been sold but not delivered. Not enough of any one has been sold to make an estimate on what the season's prices will average. Present indications are that manufacturers are more interested in using domestic wools from the fleece wool states that they are not using foreign wools, which gives a promising outlook for Delaine wools later in the season.

New Pictures

Release of one of the new American Farm Bureau Federation official protoplays was made this week, and three more are scheduled for release in the next five weeks.

"Settled Out of Court," a story of a Boy's 4-H pig club, was released Monday, Aug. 5; "The Farm That Jack Built," portraying a flood, will be released August 19; "Blue Monday," carrying a boy from a farm home to the Foreign Legion in Africa and back again, is to be issued September 2. "Valley Gold," with an Indian background, is to be released September 16.

The County Farm Bureau office owns a good motion picture machine. Anyone wishing to have any of these pictures shown at any county or township Farm Bureau meeting notify the office.

Tight Packing

Filling a can or jar too full of vegetables or fruit, when canning, is sometimes responsible for shrinkage of the food in the jars, according to Miss Alma Garvin, extension specialist in nutrition for the Ohio State university. "What makes the food shrink in the jars?" is a question frequently asked by home canners.

"Corn, peas and shelled beans are starchy and expand in cooking. They should be packed only loosely into the jars," says Miss Garvin. "A good general rule is to pack firmly, but not too tightly, up to one-half inch from the top of the jar. Be sure that all the air spaces are filled up before the jar is partially sealed and placed in the canner.

"Unevenness of heating during processing will also sometimes cause shrinkage. Overcooking of berries, tomatoes, or peaches is sometimes the cause of the same trouble."

State Fair Demonstrators

The county elimination contest for the selection of livestock-crops demonstration team and individual demonstrator; for the selection of the representatives for the state fair will be held at the Farm Bureau office, Thursday, August 15 at 3:30 p. m. All boys' clubs in the county are entitled to enter demonstration teams and individual demonstrators.

Boys To Judge Cattle

Mahoning county 4-H club boys will have the opportunity to demonstrate ability at judging dairy cattle on Tuesday, August 13, 10:30 a. m. at the Warren fair ground. The County Calf club committee has arranged to have C. L. Blackburn, dairy extension specialist from Ohio State university give instruction in judging dairy cattle. A number of show herds from Mahoning county will be at the Warren fair grounds, at that time. The owners of these herds have agreed to show some of their cattle for judging purposes.

Study Agricultural Situation

Mahoning county farmers are going to study more carefully the general agricultural situation before they plan their next years farm operations. A county-wide meeting of farmers will be held at the Farm Bureau office at Canfield Wednesday evening, August 14 at 8 p. m. to discuss the timely economic information that is given out by the rural economics department of Ohio State university. Guy W. Miller, extension economist in farm management will address the meeting. All farmers interested in planning their farm operations more carefully are invited to attend the meeting.

Ohio Clover Seed Best

Ohio grown red clover seed is far superior to any other seed, judging from first season's work at the Mahoning county experiment farm. Thirteen 1-10 acre plots were seeded with the same amount of carefully tested seed. This seed was grown in Ohio, Michigan, Colorado, Oregon, France, and Italy, the main sources of our commercial seed.

The first cutting of Michigan and Colorado seed produced only 56 and 57 per cent as much red clover hay as did Ohio grown seed; Oregon next with 27 per cent and French seed close to that with 23 per cent as much hay while Italian seed was down to only 9 per cent. In other words, if the Italian seed could be purchased at $10 per bushel you could just as well pay $100 a bushel for the Ohio grown seed of equal germination, you would get as much hay for each dollar invested in the seed. As great, or greater difference will no doubt develop in the second crop. These results clearly show that it is wise to look with suspicion on any clover seed, part of which is stained red (Italian seed) or green (French seed).

Oregon, Colorado, and Michigan and Ohio seed is not stained so you cannot tell where it is grown by the color.

When Sow Clover

An interesting test that has been running for four years on when to sow clover has brought out the fact that good soil, well limed, and drained has not failed to have a good catch of clover whether seed was planted early or late, whether seeded when ground was frozen and covered with snow, wet and sticky, or dry and cracked. All of these methods have been tried each year and they all have produced good results every year.

Where the timothy seed is sown with the clover in wheat, as was done in these tests the heavier yields of hay have been from the earlier seedings crowding the clover some and making a heavier crop with timothy predominating. In the later seedings the clover predominates and makes a better "dairy" hay but not cutting quite so much per acre.

Insane Man Slays Woman; Shoots Self

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Patrick Flynn, 32, a postoffice clerk, killed the woman in whose home he boarded and another boarder and ended his life today in what police say was a fit of insanity.

Mrs. Nora Regan, 27, and Richard Kehoe, 21, were the victims. Mrs. Regan was the wife of a policeman who had befriended Flynn and Kehoe. Mrs. Regan was shot as she lay in bed with her 14-month-old baby.

After killing Mrs. Regan and Kehoe, Flynn lay in wait for Regan and opened fire on him when the policeman returned from duty, but did not hit him. He then fled from the house and committed suicide when searchers pursued him.

RHINELAND MAY BE EVACUATED

Germany Seems Near To Success in Ten-Year Battle

The Hague, Aug. 8. — Germany appeared today to be in sight of success in her 10-year-old battle to obtain military evacuation of the Rhineland.

Former Minister Briand, of France, and Foreign Minister Stresemann, of Germany, conferred privately upon the Rhineland issue. Afterwards it was learned that M. Briand suggested that evacuation should take place three months after the Young plan for reparation payments is effective.

The Rhineland and Great Britain's attempt to revise the Young plan so as to obtain a greater share of Germany's reparation annuities were two of the chief problems confronting the Hague conference, which was summoned to solve the last of the international problems left over by the Great war.

France, with the support of Belgium, Italy and some of the smaller nations, is seeking to have the Young plan kept intact and ratified by the interested powers in its present form. M. Briand has been using all the diplomatic skill at his command to isolate Britain and force the British delegates to make concessions regarding reparation apportionments.

Mysterious Blast Wrecks Residence

Cincinnati, Aug. 8. — A vacant house, a two story frame residence, was rocked by two dynamite explosions here early today.

The interior of the dwelling was badly wrecked.

Police were at a loss to explain the blast. They are probing a report, however, that the bombing resulted from racial feeling in the district where the house is located.

A negro was seen carrying a bundle into the abode a short time before the two charges of dynamite exploded.

Governors to Speak At Grocers' Meeting

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Gov. Theodore Christianson of Minnesota; Gov. Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska and former Gov. John M. Parker of Louisiana, and Congressman Carrol Beedy of Maine are all among the nationally known statesmen who will address the banquets which follow the six big regional conventions of the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America during August and the early part of September.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Aug. 8—If clothes sometimes make a man, they also go a long way toward making a musician, according to Margaret Shotwell, American "cigaret princess" from Oklahoma, who was recently brought some startling ideas to the French Riviera where she has been playing.

"Every pianist should appeal to the eyes of his hearers," says Miss Shotwell, and half the battle can be won by putting on sympathetic color effects and costumes that go best with the period and theme.

"I wanted to reach some of these people who say 'I don't care for music,' for they very often are the very ones who really do. I succeeded by carrying out this idea of a special frock for every composition to illustrate the composer's idea and my own feelings.

At her recent concert at Biarritz the American pianist wore a charming white gown on flowing lines for a Chopin etude; for some modern music a golden brown velvet with brilliantly colored plumes; another in silver, rose silk and white plumes for Liszt and another in brilliant changeable lame for modern dance music.

The change, she said, offered so much relaxation that she did not feel in the least tired after playing two long hours.

"I felt in the right mood for I was certain I appealed to my audience," declared Miss Shotwell. "The only difficulty, perhaps, will be that the wardrobe may become enormous as one's programs grow in variety and traveling from city to city may become a real inconvenience."

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Sturgeon roe (caviar) at $17 a pound and shad roe at 60 cents a pound are nourishing foods not merely delicacies. It's a pity therefore that caviar should be so expensive that we taste it only in hors d'oeuvre. Though why it should always be priced exorbitantly is a mystery.

Caviar is the pressed and salted roe of sturgeon mainly, although the roe of whitefish and other species is also marketed as caviar. The flavor of Russian caviar is supposed to be superior, which, plus its label of "imported" makes us willing to pay a high price. But sturgeon is common to American waters, though it may be in less abundance than in Russia. And perhaps in time American packers may be able to put up caviar of native origin that will be just as good as the imported kind and cost a good deal less.

Meanwhile there are other kinds of fresh roe which are available at prices within the reach of everyone. And it's a good buy even at an apparently high price. For one thing roe is all edible—not a bit of waste. A pound of roe is a pound of food. But also roe has a higher food value than a pound of eggs or a pound of chicken meat. It is easy to prepare, and many persons who refrain from eating fish because of the bones like the taste of fish and will enjoy the roe.

The roe most common in our markets is that of shad, mackerel or weakfish, which can be purchased separately, or included when buying the entire fish. Fresh roe is prepared in the same way, no matter what kind of fish it is derived from. But there are varieties of preparation—boiling, broiling, baking, or it may be served cold in a salad or as sandwich filling.

Broiled Roe

1 pound roe.
4 tablespoons melted butter.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
½ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Mix the melted butter, lemon juice, pepper and let the roe soak in this liquid for about 10 minutes. Place under a very hot fire and broil on both sides for five minutes each. Add salt just before sending to the table and garnish with parsley and quarter sections of lemon.

Baked Roe With Mushrooms

1 pound roe.
½ pound fresh mushrooms.
1 small onion.
2 cups bouillon or hot water.
4 tablespoons butter.
1 tablespoon flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.
Breadcrumbs.

Butter a baking dish, then put a layer of chopped onion on bottom, and peeled mushrooms. Place the roe on this and cover with another layer of chopped onions and mushrooms. Pour hot bouillon or hot water over all and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes. Drain off the liquid and blend with flour and butter, then return to pan and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Sprinkle breadcrumbs on top and brown under the broiler just before sending to table.

Roe may be used as a salad by broiling first, then placing in the icebox to chill. Cut in cubes, pile on individual salad plates of lettuce or watercress, and top with mayonnaise (which is better than the too liquid French dressing for this purpose).

For use as a sandwich filling, chop the broiled cold roe with stuffed olives, add two tablespoons of mayonnaise, one teaspoon of lemon juice and salt and pepper. Best on whole wheat bread.

Boston—What was believed a record for a single order of fish was one for 115,000 tinker mackerel placed with a Faneuil Hall market fish dealer by a chain store restaurant. At the same time was ordered 35,000 pounds of swordfish 33,000 pounds of haddock, 25,000 pieces of filet of sole and about 2,000 halibut by the same chain restaurant.

18-DAY DIET TO RAISE TEMPEST IN HOLLYWOOD

Women Decried for Going to Extremes by Noted Screen Director

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 8.—Any little breeze that blows beauty gossip to Hollywood finds the casement windows of the film players wide open to welcome it. This is partly, of course, because one of the oldest and most effectively publicity "gags" is to photograph the star trying the newest methods of beauty culture, but there is some sincerity in Hollywood's appraisal of the new tricks to the old trade of beauty.

One of the biggest tempests recently raised in the Hollywood rouge-pot is due to the introduction of the 18-day diet. The weight reducing question is one that never fails to agitate the movie people because if they don't maintain the correct weight, their contracts become void.

A conversation not at all unusual in Hollywood at the present time is: "Howdy, Bill. What do you get to eat today?"

"Shucks, Norma, today's my day with celery. My stomach's one big gnaw."

"Ha, ha. I'm on my lamb chop!"

But such talk does not find all of Hollywood in accord.

Leading the heretics is William Cowen, the director, who has hard and fast ideas about the diet question.

"The trouble with women," Cowen complains, "is that they go to extremes in everything. Instead of spending the proper time on weight reduction by elimination of certain foods, they plunge into starving themselves trying to take off eighteen pounds in as many days. I do not think fat women are attractive, but neither do I believe in undermining the health for speedy results."

Flapper Figure

"The mature woman is always more interesting than the girl," Cowen goes on, "but she cannot expect the figure of a flapper. Any woman over thirty-five who diets too much is foolish. Nature changes the lines of the figure after that time and dieting only hurries lines in the face and gives that haggard look we all dread. A mature woman needs a little flesh to make her youthful and healthy-looking. Most of the famous women in the world are middle aged. No one need dread this time if they keep healthy and firm with exercises, instead of starving themselves."

Cowen has gone so far as to offer a substitute for the 18-day diet, in the shape of the old count-your-calories method combined with proper exercise.

Sensible dieting is a matter of "counting your calories," declares the director. "The secret of a slim figure is in the regulation of calories to exercise. One must balance the other, then there will be no danger of fat forming.

"Walking consumes 450 calories each hour. Typewriting wears off 150 calories per hour. Washing dishes about the same number, and golf and tennis several hundred. Playing a piano takes about 200 per hour.

"Pola Negri never ate lunch and she exercised strenuously every day. Tom Mix takes a trainer wherever he goes and has the figure of a young man. If she finds she is overweight, Dorothy Dwan goes on a liquid diet for four days before starting a new picture. Ken Maynard rides continually. Balancing eating and exercising properly will obviate any need for such dangerous dieting methods as this 18-day starvation scheme."

Salem Man Talks To Perry Grangers

R. B. Thompson, Salem, gave a talk at a meeting of Perry grange Wednesday evening at the hall, Franklin rd. Mr. Thompson told about Florida fruit and the insect pest which has been infesting it.

WASHINGTONVILLE

Members of the Women's Home circle were entertained on Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. C. R. Taylor with Mrs. Fred Girard, a special guest. Needlework and contests entertained and prizes were awarded to Mrs. F. G. Davis, Mrs. Fred Girard and Miss Clara Weikart. The hostess served lunch. In three weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Miss Grace Weikart.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crouse, son John and Miss Lizzie Driscoll of Pittsburgh, who were week end visitors in the home of their sister, Mrs. John Brady, accompanied by Mrs. Brady spent Sunday at Youngstown. Mr. and Mrs. Crouse returned to their home and Miss Driscoll remained for a week's visit in the home of her sister.

C. H. Weikart and Mrs. Rose W. Woods attended a meeting of the school board at Leetonia on Monday evening. At this time the clerk, Mrs. Woods turned over her books to the new consolidate school district of which Washingtonville is a part. The new board was organized and consists of C. E. Holt, president; C. H. Weikart, vice president; Thomas Cope, minor lodge, and Paul Siller. Frank Mossman was elected clerk.

The Wells family reunion was held on Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weikart. About 40 were present. A chicken dinner was enjoyed at the noon. Relatives were present from Cleveland, Struthers, Sebring, Salem and Washingtonville. The reunion will be held at the same place next year.

Mrs. Morris Reese and children spent Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Hannah Moore at Salem.

Mrs. Ed Grove, son James and daughter Susan of Hamilton, Ohio, returned to their home on Monday after spending a week in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. R. Taylor and family.

Mrs. Fred Weikart and Mrs. Wm. Lindsay spent Wednesday with relatives at Struthers.

A number of relatives from here attended the Firth family reunion held at Sevakeen lake on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Grindle, son Charles and Miss Grace Weikart were Minerva callers Sunday afternoon.

DOCTORS START PAYMENT PLAN TO GET BILLS

Installment System Of Paying for Medical Work Planned

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Only two more installments and the baby's mine.

That was supposed to be funny, but family doctors here looked at their stacks of unpaid creditor's bills and rubbed noses, intentionally or not, the joke-smith who banged out that bright crack let a spark fly that ignited ideas in the minds of local medicos. As a result, the "modern medical budget plan," a name tacked on by its sponsor, the Chicago Medical Society, is about to be put in operation here.

As worked out the plan is simplicity itself, and under it everything from babies to appendicitis and back again can be comfortably endured. There is only one limitation—the patient to whom the installment plan on the payment of doctors' bills is to be extended must be of moderate means. The period and amount of weekly or monthly payments will be arranged over a time commensurate with the patient's ability to pay.

Like Other Financing

One of its chief sponsors, Dr. James H. Hutton, president-elect of the society, said that the plan "simply adapts to the sick the modern method of financing employed by the automobile, the radio and other industries, and enables the family of moderate means to arrange for medical or hospital care on time-payment plan."

Furthermore, Dr. Hutton pointed out, such a plan is certain to knock down the cost of being sick by minimizing the risk of financial loss to doctor and hospital and by doing away with indiscriminate charity.

It works somewhat in the following order: The patient summons the family doctor who diagnoses the case, indicates what treatment is necessary and then figures out to a penny how many dollars and cents must be shot away before health is recaptured. Then the doctor fills out a card which serves as authorization to finance a loan to the patient at 6 per cent interest for the physician's individual account.

Now the banks get busy and mail to the physician in the case a check for 35 per cent of the estimated bill. The balance is paid to him in installments consisting of one-half of all the money still due, principal and interest, when and as collected.

Aids Collection

This Dr. Hutton explained, the patient is completely financed from the first pill to the last, and the physician finally receives 86.67 per cent of his total fee. The finance organization retains 13.63 per cent as the doctor's contribution to the plan and it piles up a special fund against which all bad loans are charged.

If the loan turns out uncollectable the physician receives only the 65 per cent originally advanced, which assures him of receiving at least a fraction of his costs in time and service.

"The plan prevents the commercialization of medicine on the one hand," said Dr. Hutton, "and on the other hand aids the patient, who pays only 6 per cent simple interest on his unpaid balance. The plan is ethical and fair to both patient and physician."

Japan Cuts Hours Of R. R. Employes

Tokyo, Aug. 8.—Definite and reduced hours will be given 120,000 employes of the government railways, instead of the excessive, irregular and often indefinite hours as heretofore. The change follows an investigation which has been conducted by the ministry for railways and will cost the government $100,000 more annually.

Under the old system the working hours of railways employes have varied in accordance with the kind of work, locality and day to day circumstances. In some places many employes were working on 24-hour shifts. The maximum has now been placed at the 18-hour day, and this may be worked only every other day.

The number of holidays during the month has also been fixed for different classes of employes instead of being left to chance. Men who are now working 12 or 13 hours continuously will hereafter work only 10 hours and have four holidays a month.

Witness Absolve Raider of Blame

Washington, Aug. 8—Witnesses to the killing of Tom Chandler, of Poteet, Texas, by Charles Stevens, federal prohibition agent, agreed that the shooting was purely accidental, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran said today after receiving a report on the affair from Deputy Commissioner O. D. Jackson.

"While I was somewhat dubious as to Stevens' first statement that Chandler was shot when the agent slipped and fell causing a rifle under his arm to be discharged, another federal agents, a town marshal and a constable who were in the party, substantiated Stevens' version in full," Doran said.

Plans New Prison

Kenton, O., Aug. 8—Following publication of a report by the Columbus Daily Dispatch that President Hoover would recommend the building of a new federal prison in Northern Ohio, a group of local business men and several civic organizations today started a drive to procure erection of the new penitentiary here.

JACK M'GURN'S WEDDING BELLS PUZZLE COURTS

Illinois Unable To Make Up Mind About Noted Gangster Case

Chicago, Aug. 8. — The state couldn't make up its mind. Was "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn married to pretty Louise Rolfe or was it just something else again?

And because the state couldn't make up its mind, Jack and Louise are now roving the streets a free man and woman in one of the most unusual cases ever presented to a Chicago court.

McGurn, which isn't his real name at all—he's Italian but once was a fighter and adopted the name of McGurn—was an excellent machine gunner during the World War. Since then, the state charges, Jack has been donating his talents to "Scarface Al" Capone, who admittedly caters to the "wants" of Chicago when he isn't in jail.

Charged With Murder

Seven members of George "Bugs" Moran's gang were killed here St. Valentine's Day. McGurn, among many others, was accused of the murder. He was indicted. When arrested McGurn was found registered at a hotel with Louise.

"My wife," said McGurn, and defied the state to prove otherwise. "She was with me when the gangsters were slain and she's going to be a hell of a good alibi."

Rather disgruntled, so it would appear, the state, failing to get anything but cosmic evidence against the gangster, placed a statutory charge against McGurn and Louise and after many continuances they were brought to trial before Judge Francis Borrelli, one of the greatest criminal law experts in Chicago.

The state tried to prove that McGurn and Louise were not married.

"When a couple is living together it is commonly assumed they are married," ruled Judge Borelli. "When your next door neighbor moves in, you don't rush over and ask to examine his marriage certificate. The state has not proved this couple is not married. Therefore I am forced to discharge them."

The state, taken aback, immediately launched the thesis that Jack and Louise were married.

"Why, now, do you contend they are married when a few minutes ago you were so anxious to prove they were not?" asked the judge.

Not So Dumb

"Well," the state's attorney said. "Since you rule that they are married and have not been living as common law man and wife, the state agrees they are married."

"Am I discharged, judge?" piped up "Dapper Jack."

"Yes, officially," said Judge Borrelli.

"Well, then, I defy the state to prove that I am married," said Jack with an air of smug satisfaction.

"Why is that?" said Judge Borrelli curiously.

"If Louise isn't my wife, then she can testify in my behalf when I'm tried for the Moran murders," said Jack, and strolled from the courtroom.

Out in the corridors of the court, Jack turned to his admirers.

"Not so dumb, am I?"

And they agreed he wasn't.

Criminals Freed In Tokyo Arson Cases

Tokyo, Aug. 8.—Of the 19 cases of arson so far tried under the jury system in Japan, seven were tried in or near Tokyo and all brought acquittals, while only one acquittal was brought from the 12 trials in other parts of Japan. The judicial authorities of Tokyo and its vicinity are deeply perplexed and worried over this state of affairs.

Procurators are now carrying on a study of the records of all these cases in an attempt to decide whether it was due to oversympathetic juries or to over-hand policemen who made arrests on insufficient evidence. They are greatly worried by the moral effect on potential criminals of so many acquittals, some of which must certainly have been errors of justice.

Under the old trial system the police depended largely upon the confession of the accused, other evidence in arson cases being usually highly difficult to obtain. The third degree methods here have long been no more. Consequently, there is reported to be a growing aversion on the part of police officers to have anything to do with arson cases. The procurators believe that the minds of the juries are rendered unconsciously sympathetic.

"THE GLAD RAG DOLL"

In her first comedy role on the screen, Dolores Costello is reported to have one of her biggest successes. The picture, "The Glad Rag Doll," which comes to the State theater tonight for a three days' engagement, was written by Harvey Gates and adapted by C. Graham Baker.

Miss Costello's role is that of Annabel Lee, a Broadway musical comedy actress, who has become engaged to Jimmy Fairchild, younger son of a proud and wealthy family which objects to an actress for his wife. When John Fairchild, the elder brother, gets Annabel discharged from the show in which she is appearing when she refuses to give Jimmy up, she arms herself with Jimmy's burning love letters and goes to the family home in Philadelphia. As she threatens to give the love letters to a newspaper if the family continues objecting to her, John reluctantly invites her to spend the week end, hoping to gain possession of the letters.

Annabel discovers a number of ugly family skeletons, so she is confident that she can make the family eat out of her hand, but all of her plans are upset when she falls in love with John, and he with her. Comedy and dramatic situations develop rapidly thereafter, and the happy ending that all comedies should have is achieved at the very end.

The supporting cast is one of the best that Miss Costello has ever had, and consists of Ralph Graves as John Fairchild, Arthur Rankin as his younger brother, Audrey Ferris as his sister, Albert Gran as his uncle, Maude Turner Gordon as his aunt, Claude Gillingwater as his attorney, and such other well known players as Tom Ricketts, Douglas Gerrard, Dale Fuller, Andre Beranger, Louise Beaver, Lee Moran, Tom Kennedy and Stanley Taylor.

"THE SHOW BOAT"

Chicago 25 years ago—a windy, roaring, bustling city of the west—seething with activity—a city of gambling houses, music halls, resorts and cabarets—broad-beamed cattlemen, wild spenders after selling trainloads of steers at the stock yards—a city where life was lived for today with never a thought of the morrow.

In "Show Boat," gigantic super talking picture at the Royal is with Laura La Plante, Joseph Schildkraut and Otis Harlan featured, just such a Chicago is shown. Some of the biggest scenes of the production are laid in the famous Jopper's Music Hall and a notorious, palatial gambling den of 25 years ago. All the romance, glamour and fanfare that was Chicago is seen in Universal's production of Edna Ferber's best selling novel.

The sequence in which Miss La Plante, as Magnolia Ravenal, gets her start in the theatrical world, shows Jopper's as remembered by many old timers who still speak of the quaint place. With tables and chairs in the place of the tiers of seats used today and with hard-boiled waiters serving drinks to an over-thirsty audience, all the blatant blare and tawdriness of the old-time music hall is effectively presented on the screen.

There are burlesque ladies, reminiscent of the famous Hudson Beer Trust, in their spangles and gawdy tights; Little Egypt, the original hoochi dancer, writhing and twisting on the stage before a polyglot gathering; everything that went to make up the variety show of a quarter century ago. And there, also, is Magnolia singing the darky melodies she learned on the Mississippi river Show Boat as a child.

An artificial fur, difficult to detect from genuine is being made from rayon.

Loughran May Battle Sharkey For Title At Yankee Stadium

Madison Square Garden Heads Hint At Closing Of Deals For Big Bout

Former Light-Heavyweight Champion Selected To Replace Maxie Schmeling After Commission Refuses Carey Permission To Hold Mix

New York, August 8.—Tommy Loughran, the light heavyweight champion, and not Max Schmeling the controversial champion, will meet Jack Sharkey for the Muldoon-Tunney bequest of the heavyweight title on September 26 and the meeting will take place at the Yankee Stadium, New York, not at Navin Field, Detroit.

This today seems to be the purport of a statement issued last nite by the Madison Square Garden Corporation, outlining its latest policy on the heavyweight situation. It means that the Garden's war with the New York Boxing Commission is ended in what "Mysterious Billy" Carey, the welterweight promoter, probably would call a compromise. The boxing commission told him that he couldn't put on a Sharkey-Schmeling fight in spite of his announcement that he could and would, either here or in Detroit.

It finally was settled by mutual consent; that is, the boxing commission said there would be no Sharkey-Schmeling fight and Carey consented.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

Closes With Loughran

He closed with Loughran early last night, probably for a straight percentage of the receipts, after coming to a belated realization of the fact that Schmeling was due to get him nothing but a large order of bi-carbonate of soda for his aching head.

Sharkey already is under contract for a guarantee of $100,000, a tenth of which already is in hand, meaning Sharkey's. The noble tar also has a 25 percent privilege which probably is the figure that squared Loughran with the Garden crowd. Thomas, as a matter of fact, probably would have signed for 25 cents and the right to be good to his mother. He figures that the heavyweight championship is already his.

Whether the commission will recognize the new arrangement as a championship is not definitely known but it probably will be feeling rather benign on the head of its victory of right over might or something. Besides, it is difficult to see how the substitution of Loughran can affect the status of the title shot, except possibly for the better. He, of course, must go through with his announced intention to abandon the light heavyweight championship and this may be done at the commission, either tomorrow or next Tuesday.

It virtually is ordained that the board's benediction of the Loughran-Sharkey fight will follow. It will be scheduled for fifteen rounds and anybody who can't afford to lay $20 for a ringside seat will be welcome—in Central Park.

Treat Acid Soil To Grow Tobacco

New Haven, Aug. 8.—Tobacco can be grown on fairly acid soil, if it be tested and treated according to the state agricultural experiment station here which has just given out the results of five years of experiment.

The work is the most complete of the sort ever undertaken in the United States, and is expected to be of great service to all tobacco growers in the country. M. F. Morgan, agronomist at the station here; Paul J. Anderson, pathologist at the tobacco sub-station at Windsor; and H. Dorsey, professor of agronomy at the state college at Storrs, conducted the work and have written up at length.

Providence — Although excessive heat is hard on human beings, it is still harder on mosquitos, and many breeding places of the pests have been cleaned up by heat waves, according to Professor Frederick P. Gorham, of Brown university. A blazing sun is far more fatal to the humming drillers than to the humans, he explained.

Grand Junction—Golfers in this region are going to have the highest golf course in the world. A course is being laid out on top of Grand Mesa, near here, which will be 10,000 feet above sea level.

What Price Championships New Question Faces Boxers

For lack of a better reason it is presumed that the average fighter goes after a title nowadays so that he will have the dubious satisfaction of telling his grandchildren that he was once champion of the world.

"And," up pipe the merry, little voices around the fireside: "What did grandma do? Take in washing?"

This will be a fair question. Outside of the heavyweight championship, one makes no money out of a title today and one thereupon splits a third of that with one's manager. Probably the surest way of collecting an order of disaster is to go in there and beat another unfortunate out of his leadership in the division he occupies. In reality, both lose, the defeated champion because mostly he is through with the big money and the successful challenger because he is destined to go into semi-seclusion where he will languish until he, too, is ready for the wash bag.

Some Thinking

Kid Chocolate is only a West Indian negro and ostensibly not a gentleman who is given to analytical thought. Yet he, or at least his manager, seems to have brought a medium of intellect to bear upon the situation. It is generally conceded that either the bantamweight or featherweight championship are theirs for the asking, so they studiously have neglected to ask. They apparently feel that they are entitled to make a little money before going in for the luxury of a title.

Tommy Loughran recently resigned the light heavyweight championship. He grew moderately rich out of the honor because, unlike the others, he defended it as often as possible. He probably would have made twice as much by fighting as a heavyweight, even if he never won the championship of that division.

He got only fair purses as light heavyweight champion. Why? Because the challenger has to be good to get a big gate and nowadays the class of boxers is so mediocre that good challengers simply don't exist and probably won't. That, in so many big words, tells the story of why the average champion is left holding the big bag of bananas while the non-champions of his class go out and get theirs every night in the week. The champion figures that he can't afford to lay his title up there in a neutral corner until the attraction is worth while from a financial standpoint. If it is, he gets a guarantee and, if the decision is blown, he at least feels that he gave himself a break. If it isn't a good attraction, he goes in there for the champion's cut of 37½ per cent and I've always been given to understand that 37½ per cent of nothing amounts to comparatively little. Meanwhile, the non-champions of any standing in the community fight any time the urge is on them and generally cut anywhere from 20 to 25 per cent. It is a wonder to me that any fighter allows himself to be chivvied into a position where he is recognized as the challenger. And why they persist in challenging is just one of life's little laughs. This isn't looking for trouble; it's getting it.

Where Is Profit?

What did the welterweight title get Joe Dundee? It mostly got him hit on the chin and for haircut money, at that. Look at Andre Routis, the featherweight champion; that is, try to look at Andre Routis, the featherweight champion. He won't let you until he is sure that the pay off will be made in plenty of Uncle Sam's visiting cards. He has been mugging around outside the class, taking a licking here and there for short wages, too. He was a pretty good money getter before the title got him.

In the years he has been champion of the lightweights, Sammy Mandell has virtually been withdrawn from circulation. He comes peering into the light occasionally, boxes some chump above the class limit and hastens back to his burrow. Only once did he get in the big money and it took the sensational rise of Jimmy McLarnin to get him that. In other words, a champion's income depends largely on the kind of challengers that come up. If they don't come up, he finds himself with more leisure than he can afford to take on.

Mickey Walker hasn't cashed too heavily with the middleweight championship. In fact, he got one of his best breaks on the money when he went outside the class with Loughran.

There are four titles at the moment without a qualified claimant and, as far as three of them are concerned, they could stay that way indefinitely without affecting any man's future, except for the worse. What price championships?

Baltimore—While the cops are away the motorists will play. Taking advantage of recent edict of the mayor of Mount Ranier calling for temporary suspension of police activities in arresting traffic violators, motorists raced through the town in some instances at a "60 mile an hour clip," it is reported.

Hanover, N. H.—The sixteenth quarterly meeting of the New England council will be held at Dartmouth college here on September 5 and 6. This will be the first meeting of the council in New Hampshire since the election of a former member, Charles W. Tobey, as governor of that state.

KIWANIANS TAKE 5-1 DECISION TO CLIMB IN LOOP

The Kiwanis club climbed from the cellar to fifth place in the city mushball league standings within the past two days, winning its second game of the week from the Merchants, by a 5 to 1 score, at Centennial park last night.

The Kiwanians socked McGuire, Merchants twirler in the absence of Leonard Perkins, regular slabster, for six hits and five runs in the first inning, while Mac McCarthy was never in danger.

The victory brought the Kiwanians up to a .500 standing, half a game behind the Post Office, which is in fourth place. Summary—

Yale To Issue Call To Sixty Grid Veterans

Strong Staff of Coaches Seelcted To Prepare Eli For Season

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 8.—Sixty cards will go out from the offices of the Yale athletic association here within the month to call 60 Yale football men to open the season's training work on September 15, and two weeks later, when college opens, 40 more men will drift into the training camp to seek places on the Varsity of 1929.

For the second year Mavin A. Stevens, now a genuine M. D., having just graduated from Yale School of Medicine as well as from Yale's scientific department, will have an active season as head coach, and for the first time a Notre Dame star will be working on the Yale football coaching staff.

Adam Walsh, of Notre Dame, is to coach the center line candidates.

Other Coaches

Other coaches on the Yale staff this year will be W. A. Webster, centers; L. M. (Larry) Noble, halfbacks; C. A. Comerford, ends; Century A. Milstead, tackles; R. D. (Reggy) Root, tackles and guards, and last but not least, R. W. (Bus) Pend, in charge of the "Bull squad," or second team, so-named in honor of the great Doctor Bull, who directed the second team over a long period of years and did much to make former great Yale football men.

Over the whole football scheme at Yale stands the graduate advisory committee headed by T. A. D. Jones, who until a year ago was himself Yale's head coach.

This starts the first of what may be a long series of trips to other football fields. On October 12 the team goes to Athens, Georgia, to play University of Georgia and incidentally help dedicate a new stadium there.

The next trip of the Yale team is set for 1931. Chicago will be the port of call then, and University of Chicago, Yale's opponent. There President R. M. Hutchins and a host of other Yale men now on the Chicago faculty, will receive them. It is all to be a tribute to Coach A. A. Stagg, who was one of the men who helped make Yale a power in football years back and then made Chicago a name to conjure with in the same game.

Jim Kesselmire To Announce Fights

James Kesselmire, of Salem, peer of the announcers in eastern Ohio, and possibly throughout the entire state, will announce participants in tonight's feature slug show, to be held at Palermo bowl, Sebring.

Kesselmire is the regular announcer at shows held in Sebring.

He will introduce Frankie Wine, Butte, Mont. heavyweight, who battles Art Malay, Chicago, in the final ten-round go. Tommy Chapelow, Sebring, meets Harry Devore, Huntington, W. Va., in the six-round semi-final.

Three other good bouts are carded.

Ruth's Homer Brings Victory To Yank Crew

BY HENRY McLEMORE

New York, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Mr. Babe Ruth refuses to mark time.

While the remainder of his Yankee team-mates seem resigned to finishing some dozen games back of the Athletics, Mr. Ruth is busily engaged in getting somewhere.

And that somewhere is what he considers his rightful place at the head of all home run hitters.

Yesterday the Babe smacked another one. It was quite a remarkable ball. It was his 28th; his third in three successive times at bat; and his second in two days that came with the bases loaded. It placed him only five behind Chuck Klein of the Phillies and it helped the Yanks smother the Mackmen 13 to 1 in the first game of their double bill.

The Macks took the second game.

Youthful Dale Alexander's hitting of a home run, two doubles and a single, helped Detroit no little in turning back the Indians 14 to 4. The loss shoved Cleveland back into fourth place.

Myles Thomas held the Red Sox to six hits and the Senators turned in a 4 to 2 win.

In the only game in the National League, Pittsburgh whipped New York 4 to 3. The Giants staged a three-run rally in the ninth to tie the score but so exhausted themselves that the Pirates had little trouble in slipping over the winning run in their share of the innings.

Proud Kin of the Edison Contest Winner

Wilber Huston, winner of the Edison Scholarship Contest, a closeup of whom is shown at right, is a fortunate boy in having been under the influence of his father, the Right Reverand S. Arthur Huston, left, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Olympia, who was his constant guide and inspiration. At top, right, is Mrs. Huston, with her children—Anne and John—happily reading the news of Wilber's success. The character study of the boy, below, right, reveals a high forehead, denoting extraordinary intelligence, while his sensitive features show alertness and mental astuteness of a generally high order.

Some Leaders at Knights Convention

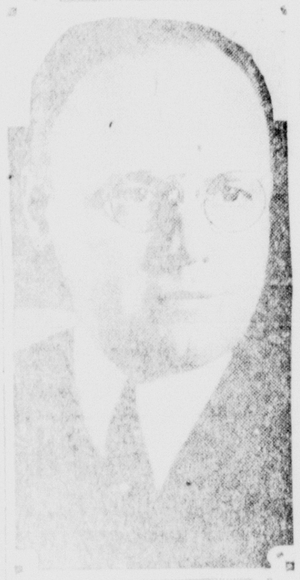
Back in the Street

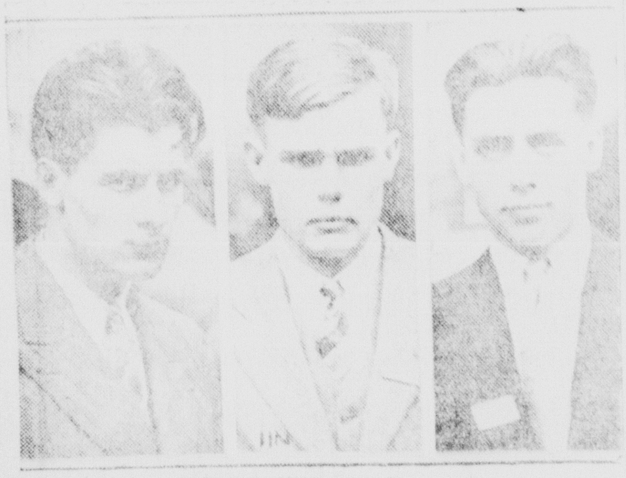


An old adage of Wall Street that the lure of the financial district always succeeds in drawing its leaders back from retirement, proved true in the case of Mr. E. R. Tinker, former president of Chase Securities Corporation. He has returned after several years' absence from investment affairs to take the presidency of the new Interstate Equities Corporation at New York.

Will Brave the Falls

With complete self assurance, Mrs. Susan D. Grove, of Hagerstown, Md., 69-year-old mother of five children, announces that she plans to take a trip over Niagara Falls in a rubber ball. She further adds that she isn't one bit afraid of her coming venture, and anticipates a successful journey.

Surprise Awards Made by Edison



Here are the three student contestants in the Edison Scholarship Contest who, though they did not win the coveted prize, won by Wilber B. Huston, of Seattle, Wash., were awarded special prizes in recognition of their fine showing in the examinations. These will entitle them to tuition in any college they may wish to attend.

THREE DIVORCE CASES FILED

Wives Ask Separation In Petitions; Cruelty Claimed

Lisbon, Aug. 8—Rena M. Souders through her counsel, Cochran & Crawford of East Liverpool, has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Charles E. Souders, whose place of residence is unknown. The couple were married at East Liverpool, June 27, 1917, and four children are of issue, the custody of which are sought by the plaintiff under an order of court.

Mrs. Souders relates in her petition that her husband has been guilty of extreme cruelty, that he struck her with his fist, kicked her and July 1, 1928, drew a gun on her and threatened to kill her. Souders then left his wife June 10, following. He is also accussed of gross neglect of duty.

Suit for divorce has also been entered by Albert A. Sickles against his wife, Iva May Sickles of Newell, W. Va. The petition, filed for the plaintiff by Atty. James E. Davis declares that the defendant has been willfully absent from her husband for over a period of three years. The couple are without issue, and were married in August 1917.

Robert R. Clutter a brakeman on the Wellsville-Pitcairn division of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad has abandoned his wife, Lucinda R. Clutter, upon numerous occasions and has been guilty of extreme cruelty for a period of three years, according to the divorce petition that has been filed against Clutter by Frank E. Grosshans, as counsel for Mrs. Clutter. The petition also shows that Clutter notified persons with whom his wife was trading not to extend her credit. Upon final hearing a decree is sought and restoration to her maiden name, that of Lucinda Snyder.

Asks Leave To Petition

A motion asking leave to file a petition in error has been filed in common pleas court by Bruno Calabria, as plaintiff in error against the State of Ohio, and accompanying the motion was a copy of the petition in error.

Calabria was recently fined $300 and costs by Mayor Charles Laber at East Palestine, and immediately after the trial notice of appeal was given. One of the nine causes of error in the lower court is based upon the fact lower court refused to dismiss the charge against the plaintiff in error on the ground the warrant was improperly executed and returned.

For good cause shown, the court has granted the plaintiff in error leave to file the petition in error.

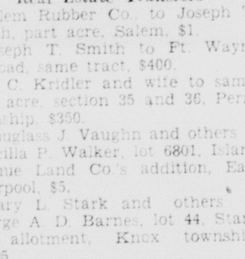
a New FRIGIDAIRE

Porcelain-on-steel outside and inside

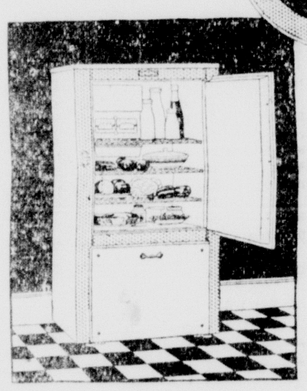
Equipped with the famous "Cold Control"



Here is a beautiful cabinet finished in Tu-Tone Porcelain-on-steel with a seamless Porcelain-on-steel lining. It won't absorb grease. It can be cleaned as easily as chinaware. There are eight square feet of shelf space. And look at the space between the shelves. Plenty of room for tall containers. And even the lowest shelf is placed so that you don't have to stoop to reach it.

The powerful mechanism is built with such precision that you don't hear it start, or stop, or run. And it's all out of sight. This leaves the top of the cabinet clear for extra kitchen shelf space.

And don't forget the famous "Cold Control." It gives you complete control over Frigidaire's surplus power. It enables you to govern the time required to freeze ice cubes or to make frozen salads and desserts.



With the famous Frigidaire "Cold Control" you can regulate the freezing time in your Frigidaire just as you regulate the cooking time in the oven of your gas stove.

Come in and see this new Frigidaire. A small deposit puts it or any other Frigidaire in your home. Stop in at our display room—today.

LEETONIA

The regular monthly business meeting of the local Kiwanis club was held on Tuesday evening following the dinner served in the Presbyterian church by the ladies of the church.

The attendance was small owing to the large number of Kiwanians away on vacations.

The attendance prize donated by Mr. Morris was won by C. S. Aschleyer. The next week's meeting will be a picnic to be held on Tuesday afternoon, August 14, at Negley's park. At which time all of its members, their families and friends are invited to be present. The sports committee will have all arrangements.

A director's meeting was held after the regular meeting and plans were made for the holding of a Kiwanis fall festival on October 11 and 12 in the rooms in the Hahn building formerly occupied by the Spatholt Hardware company.

This will include a style show, agricultural exhibit, a merchant's fair. This will also include the annual potato and apple exhibition held by the Kiwanis club.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gunther, and son, Harry, were at Garfield, on Tuesday afternoon to attend the funeral of Charles Mathers, aged 71, who died Sunday of a heart attack. He is survived by his widow and two children. Burial was made in Hope cemetery, Salem.

Miss Clarissa Altomare is ill at her home on Main st.

W. D. Risher, of Alliance, was a Leetonia caller on Monday.

The Misses Marian Stark and Grace Lehentayler, and Harold Babcock of Norwalk, motored to Leetonia on Monday for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Reynolds. Miss Lehentayler and Mr. Babcock went on to Franklin, Pa., on Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives. Miss Stark will be remembered as a former Leetonia resident.

Five Hundred Club

The Tuesday Five Hundred club was entertained by Mrs. C. J. Spatholt on Tuesday afternoon in her home at 330 Columbiana st. There were two tables at play with the lovely trophies were awarded to Mrs. Conrad Berg and Mrs. George Wiedmayer. Following the counting of score the hostess served dainty refreshments on the card tables.

A committee consisting of Mrs. T. B. Cope, Mrs. Nellie Helt, Mrs. Frank Gaver, Mrs. John Shelton, and Miss Jemima McCormick entertained class associates of the class in St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school taught by Mrs. I. F. Mellinger, on Monday evening in the Lutheran chapel.

Following the lesson study games were enjoyed with a delicious lunch served by the committee.

Mrs. Carl Fritz was taken suddenly ill on Monday with an attack of acute appendicitis. She was taken to the Salem City hospital where on Tuesday morning she was operated on. Reports from the hospital are very favorable as to her condition.

Middletown, Conn. — Professor William G. Foye, head of Wesleyan university's department of geology, is spending his time working out a scheme by which the time and probable location of earthquakes in New England, especially Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, can be predicted.

ATHLETIC FIELD AT ALL SCHOOLS NEW YORK PLAN

Gotham Heads Recognize Great Importance Of Outdoor Sports

New York, Aug. 8. — Recognizing the need for recreational centers in the outdoors and near the high schools the board of education recently adopted the plan of making the athletic field a feature to be included in all high school building programs in the future.

Although in many parts of New York city the cost of property is prohibitively high all of the present schools will be given athletic fields wherever practicable. In the case of new schools the field will be regarded much as the gymnasium has been heretofore—it will be just as essential a feature as the auditorium.

More than $4,000,000 has already been spent on athletic fields for the city's high school system. New fields will probably cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 each, experts forecast. In all instances where it is possible a concrete stand seating 5,000 will be constructed immediately after the field has been graded. Additional portable stands to care for 5,000 more persons will be constructed, according to the education board's plans.

This reversal in policy is expected to bring about an increased interest in athletics with the development of more athletics. Heretofore it had been necessary for school teams playing outdoor games to travel long distances in the subways to reach a practice field. With the new program in effect this will have been eliminated.

Construction of the fields will not compete with the already well-developed gymnasium program in the schools. The fields will be supplementary and will not supplant the gyms.

Modern Konjola Scores Another Fine Victory

Happy Lady Obtained Wonderful Results From Just A Short Treatment With Modern Compound

MISS PAULINE VANDOCK

"Konjola proved to me that it is worthy of all the wonderful praise it is getting," said Miss Pauline Vandock, 26 East Park Street, Toledo, Ohio. "For several months my system was in a rundown condition. My stomach was one source of trouble. Gas and indigestion followed my meals. My liver was sluggish. I felt tired all the time and had no pep or ambition. My back ached, and my nerves were weak."

"Imagine my surprise when Konjola relieved me almost immediately. It toned up my entire system, and made me feel like a different person. My stomach functions normally, and my liver and kidneys never cause me the slightest trouble. I have more strength and vitality, and have more color in my cheeks. I have all the praise in the world for Konjola!"

Konjola is sold in Salem at all J. H. Lease drug stores, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

New World Salutes Queen of Air

Outlined against the sunset skyline of New York, the Graf Zeppelin roars over the metropolis at the end of her voyage from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N. J., in the record time of 95 hours and 25 minutes with 18 passengers and a small cargo of freight. The giant ship will soon start from New York back over the same route in a world tour.

Elkton-Lisbon Road Closed For Repairs; Bridge Ready

Closing of the Elkton-Lisbon rd. today by the State Highway Department was for the purpose of placing a smooth bituminous macadam top on the highway from the east end of the road at the Y. & O. crossing westward to connect with the paved road at Elkton. This section will be closed for probably 10 days.

When this project is finished, it has been proposed to widen the narrow brick road its entire distance and connect with the new concrete highway at the east end of Elkton.

George B. Patterson of Wellsville who was awarded the contract for surfacing five miles of road in Elkrun township to connect with the East Liverpool-Youngstown rd, will probably pour the last concrete next Tuesday or Wednesday, weather permitting speedy pouring. Should this schedule be maintained, it is the new concrete road will be opened to traffic probably the first week in September.

Double traffic will probably be maintained over the new bridge spanning Beaver Creek at Lisbon on the Lincoln Highway late next week, according to Contractor Herman C. Armstrong. While the bridge floor has been finished, approaches to the north and south ends of the bridge remain to be completed. Additional men have been placed on this project, and all obstacles that have held up the job have been removed.

While the new section of the East Liverpool-East Palestine rd, in St. Clair township will be open to traffic next Saturday, the road will be closed again within a few weeks when Lewis & Copeland begin to pour concrete on the new route through Calcutta. A part of the old narrow brick road near Calcutta is to be taken up, and concrete will be poured over the balance and the road widened.

N. GEORGETOWN

Mrs. Dora Ritchie Wang and sons Earl and Dale Ritchie moved to Salem last Thursday and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ritchie moved into her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mead of Louisville, Ky., are spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mead. Mr. Mead, who has been ill for several days, is able to be about again.

Mrs. J. E. Snevel and children of Cleveland are visiting Mrs. Ida Wyss and other relatives in the community.

The August meeting of the Knox township Farm Bureau was held at the hotel at Lake Placentia on Tuesday evening. Farm pictures shown by Stanley Howard of Lisbon were the chief part of the program.

The large barn on the farm of Ernest Sanor, 2½ miles southeast of this village, was burned last Tuesday just after noon, together with the wagon shed and all farm machinery, the milk house and milk utensils, and the chicken houses. The wheat had just been threshed and it was while finishing up the last of the threshing in the barn, that the fire started from the "blower." The entire crop of 300 bushels of wheat was burned, together with the straw shed full of straw and three large mows full of hay. Three calves burned and one horse was so badly burned it had to be killed later. Plans are being made to build a new barn.

Master Henry Herzog of Salem is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bettis.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Good, who were married at Lisbon last Saturday, were given a rousing belling by a large crowd of enthusiastic "well-wishers" at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Campbell, on Monday evening.

The new concrete road between here and Homeworth which was completed a short time ago, has been opened to traffic as far west as Reading. The entire road will be opened by August 18.

The meeting of the Luther Leagues of the Canton-Youngstown federation, held at the Lutheran church Sunday afternoon and evening, was well attended, delegations being present from Warren, Lordstown, Berlin Center, New Middletown, New Springfield, Greenford, Washingtonville, Salem, Sebring, Alliance, Canton, East Canton, New Franklin and Minerva. The next meeting will be held at Lordstown on Sunday, Sept. 29.

Tokyo Families In Squalor In Slums

Tokyo, Aug. 8.—Investigation into the conditions of 32 slum districts in Tokyo by the Social Work Bureau have revealed that residents of the filthy quarters are living on an average of 72 cents apiece a day.

Of a total of 25,000 families comprising 120,000 persons, 61 representative families were selected from the slum districts and investigations conducted among them. The average age of the heads of those families was 45.

The average time of residence in Tokyo was 26 years. The standard of education was 13 illiterate, 12 partially educated at primary schools, 29 graduates of primary schools, five graduates of higher primary school, one a graduate of a high girls' school and one a graduate of the Academy of Fine Arts.

Classified by occupation, 16 were jobless, 14 petty retailers, four minor handiworkers, 10 manual laborers and 16 knitting workers. The average income of the heads of the families was $7.00 a month.

San Francisco — Male automobile drivers are more deadly than female according to Coroner T. B. W. Leland. Announcing his annual report today, Dr. Leland said that only nine women figured in fatal accidents for the year ending July 1 while 112 men drove death cars.

Kansas City—A trap designed to kill sparrows by means of monoxide gas recently took the life of its inventor. Gus Ihrig, 77 year old inventor of the "bird killing device" went to his garage to see how many sparrows were victims of his trap. When he failed to return his wife found his body in the garage.

How One Woman Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat

Lost Her Double Chin
Lost Her Prominent Hips
Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained Physical Vigor
Gained in Vivaciousness
Gained a Shapely Figure

If you're fat—first remove the cause!

KRUSCHEN SALTS contain the 6 mineral salts your body organs, glands and nerves must have to function properly.

When your vital organs fail to perform their work correctly—your bowels and kidneys can't throw off that waste material—before you realize it—you're getting hideously fat!

Try one half teaspoonful of KRUSCHEN SALTS in a glass of hot water every morning—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat has vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. KRUSCHEN will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get an 85c bottle of KRUSCHEN SALTS from J. H. Lease Drug Co., Floding Drug Store, Bolger and French or any leading druggist anywhere in America. (lasts 4 weeks). If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.
